Risk factors

General

Investing in securities involves financial risks. Potential investors in the Company are requested to take careful note of the following. There is a possibility that - due to the investment policy - your investment will increase in value; however, it is also possible that your investment will generate little or no income and that you may lose all or part of your initial investment in the event of a negative performance. Results obtained in the past offer no guarantee for the future.

The various risks associated with an investment in OBAM are described below. The Management Company monitors the risks among other things on the basis of the periodic reports from the Administrator and the other service-providers.

Market risk

Market risk is the risk of fluctuations on the financial markets, or fluctuations in share prices, interest rates, exchange rates, commodity prices and derivatives linked to these products.

Price risk

The value of the investments fluctuates with changes in the prices of the shares in which the Company invests. This risk increases when the spread of shares in portfolio is narrowed to a specific region, sector and/or individual stock selection.

OBAM's policy is intended to reduce the potential negative effect of price fluctuations on the Company's net asset value as far as possible, among other things through judicious selection and diversification. By investing in various investment instruments, sectors and countries, an attempt is made to ensure that there is sufficient diversification in the portfolio. OBAM accordingly manages the value risk primarily through diversification of the investment portfolio.

The risks may increase further where use is made of futures and (written) option positions or where investments are funded with borrowed money.

No guarantees are given that the investment targets will be achieved. This can result in the increase or the decrease of the net asset value of OBAM Shares. This implies that investors may receive less money back than they have invested.

Market disruption risk

A market disruption in the form of an economic or financial crisis can have major economic consequences, possibly also affecting the international credit markets, and can result in a slowdown or downturn in the global economy in general, including the market or markets in which OBAM invests or may invest. In the short, medium and long term, these market disruptions may have negative consequences (among other things) for the results, the assets and the value of the investments of OBAM. A continuing or worsening recession worldwide or in regional or national markets may further negatively influence the results, assets or value of OBAM's investments.

Risk of investing in Emerging Markets

The risk may be considerably greater in Emerging Markets. This will be the case particularly in countries where there is for example an authoritarian regime, political instability or high taxes. Compared with mature markets, the equity markets in these countries may be characterised by greater volatility, lower liquidity and higher transaction costs, while the investment information may be incomplete or unreliable.

Derivatives risk

OBAM may make use of financial derivatives. This may involve a leverage effect, which may cause the volatility of the Company to increase. Certain derivatives give rise to losses that are greater than the costs of those derivatives. Some derivatives, especially derivatives traded over the counter ('OTC'), may be valued in different ways. A derivative may have a weaker than expected correlation with the underlying securities and may therefore appear to be ineffective or even have an adverse effect on the value of the Company. OBAM can make use of OTC options. These options are agreed upon by parties. The risk to which OBAM is exposed if the other party cannot fulfil its obligations is limited to the positive net asset value of the relevant OTC contracts.

Currency risk

OBAM may invest in securities or other instruments that are denominated in a currency other than the euro. As a result, OBAM's performance may be affected by movements in exchange rates. These currency fluctuations can have both a positive and a negative effect on the return.

The Management Company may choose (within the scope of the investment policy) to hedge the currency risks by using financial derivatives.

Inflation risk

As inflation in a given country rises, the purchasing power of that country's currency reduces. OBAM's investments are not specifically designed to provide protection against the risks of inflation.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk of the impact of interest rate fluctuations on the value of the assets and liabilities of OBAM.

Concentration risk

Although spreading risk is an important factor in the determination of the policy, a relatively large proportion of the assets may be invested in a relatively small number of companies.

Liquidity risk

The degree of marketability of the securities in which the Company invests influences the actual sale and purchase prices. To limit the liquidity risks, the Company invests mainly in highly marketable listed securities. The high degree of liquidity also forms the basis for timely payment in the event of a repurchase of Shares by OBAM.

The degree of (non)liquidity of the securities in OBAM's portfolio is expressed in the values of the relevant positions.

Country risk

Market risks can be greater in certain countries, in particular those with such characteristics as political instability, lack of complete or reliable information, market irregularities or high taxation.

Risks related to investments in mainland China

Investing in the People's Republic of China (PRC) carries a high degree of risk. Apart from the usual investment risks, investing in the PRC is also subject to certain other inherent risks and uncertainties, like government intervention and restrictions imposed by government, political, economic and social risks, government control of currency, different accounting and reporting standards and the risk of changes in taxation in the PRC (this list is not exhaustive).

Risks related to Stock Connect

Stock Connect comprises a Northbound trading link and a Southbound trading link. Under the Northbound trading link, Hong Kong and overseas investors will be able to trade certain stocks listed on the Shanghai Stock Exchange ("SSE") and the Shenzhen Stock Exchange ("SZSE") markets. The usage of Stock Connect may lead to additional risks resulting from differences in trading time, quota limitations, clearing and settlement differences and differences in regulatory regimes (this list is not exhaustive).

Operational risk

The operational infrastructure which is used by OBAM carries the risk of potential losses due among other things to processes, systems, staff and external events. Operational risk management aims to control these operational risks (including the risk of non-compliance with laws and regulations and the consequential risk that the Company will be held liable). Procedures and control measures are developed, described and monitored in order to control these risk aspects.

Pandemic risk

The outbreak of a pandemic may, also depending on the severity and duration of the pandemic, have negative impact on the activities that the Management Company performs for the Company. The outbreak of a pandemic among employees of the Management Company, employees of any outsourcing party and/or employees of other service providers, may negatively impact the quality and continuity the activities of the Management Company, despite the measures of the Management Company regarding its business continuity and crisismanagement, and despite any restrictive (quarantine) measures.

The Management Company tests its business continuity and crisisplan on a periodical basis, or more frequent if the Management Company deems this necessary. Subsequently, the Management Company updates its business continuity and crisisplan based on its test assessment, in order to adequately reduce any negative impact on the quality and continuity of its activities.

Counterparty risk

The Company may suffer losses if an issuer or counterparty proves unable to meet its contractual obligations.

In so far as investments are made in other UCITS or investment institutions, there is a risk that the repurchase or issue of units will be suspended in whole or in part.

Outsourcing risk

The risk of outsourcing activities is that this third party may not comply with its obligations, notwithstanding existing agreements. The Management Company, which remains responsible for the activities it outsources, will periodically test compliance with the existing agreements and will take any actions it deems necessary.

Custody risk

The Depositary has outsourced safekeeping tasks to entities in countries where it has no local presence. Assets may be lost due to e.g. insolvency and negligence of or fraud at the Depositary or of/at the entities to which the Depositary has outsourced safekeeping tasks. The Depositary is in principle liable towards the Company for the loss of any financial instruments in its custody.

Risk of investing with borrowed money

Investments made using borrowed money can generate a higher yield, but the downside risks are also greater.

Settlement risk

It is possible that settlement through a payment system cannot take place as expected because payment or delivery of the financial instruments by a counterparty does not take place on time, does not take place at all or does not take place as expected.

Erosion risk

Payments made lead to erosion of the fund assets. The Company has opted for the status of FII. In order to retain this status, the taxable profit must be distributed to the Shareholders in its entirety. The taxable profit in a given year may under certain circumstances exceed the investment return and/or the profit as calculated pursuant to the rules applying when the financial statements were prepared. The repurchase of Shares also leads to erosion of the fund assets and therefore to a decline in the liquidity position.

Risks associated with techniques for efficient portfolio management

Techniques employed for efficient portfolio management and in particular relating to the quality of the collateral instruments received/reinvested, may give rise to various risks, such as liquidity risks and counterparty risks, which can have an impact on the results of the Company.

Risk of conflicts of interest

The Management Company has formulated a policy on conflicts of interest. In order to identify and manage conflicts of interest in an appropriate manner, the Management Company applies a policy consisting of:

- a method for establishing potential conflicts of interest; and
- standards for organisational arrangements intended to prevent, manage in an appropriate manner or report conflicts of interest.

The Management Company maintains a register containing the details of established or potential conflicts of interest.

Risks relating to legislation and regulations

Possible changes in the (tax) legislation and regulations as well as the interpretation thereof may have a positive or negative influence on the tax position of (a Shareholder in) OBAM. As a result of changes in the (tax) legislation and regulations, OBAM may be faced with charges or levies that were not anticipated at the time of drafting this Prospectus or at the moment that investments were bought, valued or sold.

Risk associated with the segregation of assets

The assets attributable to different OBAM Classes are not legally separated from each other. This means that obligations relating to one Class could be met from the assets that are attributable to another Class. Currently, only Class 'Classic' has been issued and placed with third parties, therefore this risk is not current.

Model risk

The Company may make use of models when making investment decisions. There is a risk that these models may not adequately meet the purpose for which they are used.

The above risk factors are shown in their order of importance, based on forecasts for the longer term.

Fund structure

- proposing binding nominations for the (re)appointment of the Management Board and the members of the Supervisory Board;
- the right to give prior consent with respect to amendment of the articles of association, legal mergers, legal splits and winding up of the Company.

The remaining rights vested in these shares are described in the Articles of Association.

Capitalisation

The authorised capital of OBAM has a nominal value of EUR 56,353,000 and is divided into 80,500,000 ordinary Shares each having a nominal value of EUR 0.70 and 60 priority shares each having a nominal value of EUR 50.00.

The rights attaching to ordinary and priority shares are described in the Company's Articles of Association, which are attached to this Prospectus as Annex A.

The ordinary Shares in OBAM are subdivided into two Classes of lettered shares, designated with the letters 'C' (or 'Classic') and 'X', respectively. As at the date of this Prospectus, only 'C' or 'Classic' Class Shares had been issued and placed with third parties. The Classic Class Shares are quoted on Euronext Amsterdam. Classic Class Shares are listed on the Website as OBAM N.V., share category 'Classic Distributie', with ISIN code NL0006294035. A second Class may also be introduced. The specific features of this Class will be incorporated in an adapted Prospectus.

The Shares in each Class constitute a separate category of Shares. Each Share of the same Class confers the right to a proportionate Share in the capital of the Company.

The Articles of Association allow the Management Board to amend the distribution of the authorised capital among the different Classes, provided a copy of the decision to that effect is filed with the Trade Register. The Management Board may convert Shares held by the Company in one Class into Shares of another Class.

The Class Classic Shares in are bearer shares and are embodied in one global share certificate which cannot be converted into single or multiple share certificates. This global share certificate has been placed in the custody of Euroclear Netherlands.

Distributions and dividend policy

Pursuant to the Articles of Association, a dividend of EUR 3.00 per share (6% of the nominal amount) will be distributed to priority shareholders. The Management Board, subject to the approval of the Supervisory Board, what proportion of the profit is to be added to the reserves, subject to the proviso that the element of the profit that must be distributed in order to satisfy the FII-criteria (see chapter 'Taxation', under 'Corporate Income Tax') must be paid out within eight months from the end of the financial year.

The General Meeting subsequently decides in accordance with proposals formulated by the Management Board, with the approval of the Supervisory Board, on the distribution of the profit that is not added to the reserves.

That profit is distributed to the holders of ordinary Shares in proportion to the number of Classic Class Shares held by them.

Subject to the approval of the Supervisory Board, the Management Board of the Company may also make interim profit distributions, with due observance of the provisions of the Articles of Association of the Company. The share premium reserve makes it possible to make tax-free distributions charged to this reserve.

Distributions may be made in cash or in Shares of the Company, or a combination of the two. Profit distributions and other distributions will be made payable on a date to be set by the Management Board of the Company at the latest two weeks following determination or the decision to make the distribution.

The making payable of distributions to Shareholders, the composition of the distributions as well as the method by which dividend is made payable will be announced by means of an advertisement in a national Dutch daily newspaper as well as on the Website. Dividend which has not been claimed within five years of being made payable will revert to the Company.

General Meetings

The annual General Meeting will be held within six months of the end of the financial year (as stated in the chapter 'Reporting'). The agenda of this meeting will include the following items among others:

- except where a postponement has been granted, the discussion and adoption of the annual accounts and, in so far as prescribed by law, the discussion of the annual report and the other information within the meaning of Section 392 of Book 2 of the Dutch Civil Code;
- the adoption of the proposed profit appropriation;
- discharge of the members of the Management Board in respect of their management activities
- discharge of the members of the Supervisory Board in respect of the supervision of the policy pursued by the Management Board and the general course of business within the Company.

Extraordinary General Meetings are held either as frequently as the Management Board or Supervisory Board deems desirable or as required by provisions of the law. A notice convening a General Meeting will be served no later than the forty-second day before the date of the meeting and will be announced by means of an advertisement in a national Dutch daily newspaper as well as on the Website. In the General Meeting each registered full ordinary Share gives the right to cast one vote. Resolutions will be passed by simple majority of votes, unless a larger majority is explicitly required by law or pursuant to the Articles of Association.

The Management Company endorses these principles and renders account annually on how it has applied them.

The DUFAS Asset Manager Code, as well as the ten General Principles and the report of the Management Company on the most recently ended financial year, may be found (in Dutch) on the Website.

Fund governance

The Management Company has formulated Principles of Fund Governance in respect of the requirements concerning sound business operations as set out in the Wft. Those Principles have been published (in Dutch) on the Website.

The Management Company will inform all Shareholders simultaneously and fully concerning the Company.

The Management Company may pay a fee or commission to parties provided that (i) the Management Company is permitted to pay such fee or commission, and (ii) the parties concerned are permitted by law to accept such fees or commission. In addition the Management Company may, in so far as it is permitted to do so, provide additional information relating to the Company if a Shareholder in the opinion of the Management Company has a justifiable interest therein, for example in the context of supervisory reporting obligations. The provision of such additional information may generally speaking not lead to material disadvantage for the other Shareholders in the Company.

Voting policy

In the interests of good fund governance the Management Company has a policy concerning voting behaviour. The principles applied by the Management Company with regard to voting behaviour are stated (in English on the Website. For information on the voting behaviour, reference is made to the OBAM fund page on the Website.

Class Action Policy

As a matter of policy, the Management Company:

- does, in principle, not participate in active class actions (i.e. the Management Company does not initiate, act as a plaintiff or otherwise takes an active role in a class action against an issuer);
- may participate in passive class actions in jurisdictions where the Management Company considers, at its sole discretion, that (i) the class action process is sufficiently effective (e.g. where the anticipated revenue exceeds the predictable cost of the process), (ii) the class action process is sufficiently predictable and (iii) the relevant data required for the assessment of eligibility to the class action process are reasonably available and can be efficiently and robustly managed¹;
- transfers any monies which are paid to the Management Company in the context of a class action, net of external costs, to OBAM N.V.

¹ As at June 2018, BNPP AM considers that the following jurisdictions meet the aforementioned conditions: the United States, Canada, Australia and the Netherlands.

The Management Company may at any time amend its Class Actions Policy and may deviate from the principles set out therein in specific circumstances.

The for the Company relevant Class Action Policy is available on the Website.

Winding up and liquidation

The General Meeting may resolve to wind up the Company at the proposal of the meeting of holders of priority shares. Liquidation of the Company's assets will be carried out by the Management Board, under the supervision of the Supervisory Board, if and in so far as the General Meeting does not resolve otherwise. The balance of the Company's assets remaining after payment of all debts will first be used to pay the nominal amount of the priority shares to the holders of those shares.

The balance remaining thereafter will be distributed to the holders of ordinary Shares in proportion to the Shares held by them in Classic Class.

Investment objective and investment policy

Investment objective

OBAM invests in listed equities worldwide with the aim of generating a return that is higher than the reference benchmark over the medium term through active management. The benchmark used is the MSCI AC World (NR).

Investment policy

The Company seeks to build a balanced international portfolio of listed securities, with holdings in the United States, Europe, Japan, Australia and/or Emerging Markets worldwide with sufficient liquidity. Investments are made primarily in leading international companies with unique product and/or market positions as well as a strong and shareholder-driven management, although shares in smaller companies may also be found in the portfolio.

Key selection criteria for the core of the portfolio are: leading high-quality companies which are active in attractive and growing sectors and which combine stable performance in terms of returns and profits with attractive valuation levels. Whilst spreading risk is an important factor in determining the policy, a relatively large part of the assets may be deliberately concentrated in well-managed high-quality companies. The quality of individual companies is more important for OBAM's investment policy than the economy in general. The performance of companies and stock exchanges is not always in line with macroeconomic developments. Smaller companies and equity markets which in OBAM's opinion are undergoing fundamental long-term changes, may also be included in the portfolio. In principle, investments will be held in the Company's portfolio for an extended period. In general, more than 50% of the assets are invested in companies which show long-term stable growth in sales, return on invested capital and operating results. Given this policy, OBAM's performance may deviate substantially from the reference benchmark.

Who may want to invest in OBAM?

OBAM may be suitable as a core or supplemental investment for investors:

- who are interested in a convenient way of investing in the worldwide stock markets;
- who have experience with the risk and rewards of investing in equities.

Investment restrictions

The Company is a UCITS. This means that the Company observes the investment restrictions applying for a UCITS within the Company's portfolio as established by or pursuant to the Wft. The investment restrictions applicable to a UCITS are contained in the BGfo. The provisions of this Decree applicable on the prospectus date are included in this Prospectus as Annex C.

The implementation of the investment policy is also subject to the following restrictions:

- A maximum of 15% of the Company's net assets may be held as cash and cash equivalents at any time, barring exceptional circumstances.

- The Company may make use of derivatives, such as options, forward currency transactions, warrants and futures. These instruments will be used to hedge the risks in the investment portfolio and/or to generate extra profit.
- The Company may take out loans up to a maximum of 10% of the Company's net assets; these loans must be temporary in nature and have a term of no more than three months.
- No more than 10% of the assets of the Company may be invested directly or indirectly in shares of other UCITS or investment institutions.
- The Company's investments into "China A-Shares" via Stock Connect may reach up to 25% of its net assets.

The aforementioned restrictions will be taken into account at the moment of transaction. The Management Company will monitor the investment portfolio using its risk management system.

Risk management

Risk management forms an important part of the activities of the Management Company. As part of the risk assessment process, risk assessments are carried out at several levels. The initial assessments are carried out within the investment team.

Subsequently the CFRO performs assessments among others with respect to investment risk and investment compliance. These assessments are carried out in close liaison with the investment team in order to ensure that the level of risk of the investment portfolio is within acceptable limits.

To manage investment risks, the risk team uses Bloomberg for VaR calculation and to manage investment compliance risks. After a risk profile assessment, the Management Company decides whether to use the commitment approach or the VaR approach (95%, 1 month) to determine the market risk exposure. For OBAM, the commitment approach is used to measure and monitor the total exposure.

If restrictions are exceeded as a result of events outside the control of OBAM, future sales transactions will as a priority be focused on reversing these excesses, taking Shareholders' interests into account.

Affiliated Parties

OBAM may invest in other UCITS and investment institutions. OBAM may enter into transactions with Affiliated Parties. These transactions may include investment transactions and securities custody agreements. Such transactions will take place under conditions that the Management Company deems to be on a par with or better than the normal market conditions. Where a transaction is effected with an Affiliated Party outside a regulated market, stock exchange or other regulated, regularly functioning, recognised open market, the transaction will be based on an independent valuation or the valuation will be carried out by one or more of the parties involved in the transaction.

Techniques for efficient portfolio management

Pursuant to the Terms and Conditions and within the limits of (i) the applicable legislation and regulations and (ii) the investment policy and associated investment restrictions, the Company may make use of derivative instruments (such as options, futures and swaps) to facilitate efficient portfolio management, to hedge currency and market risks and to further the achievement of its investment objectives. The techniques and instruments used meet the following criteria:

- they are economically sound in the sense that they are realised in an economically viable manner;
- the transactions are concluded with a view to one or more of the following specific objectives:
 - risk reduction;
 - cost reduction;
 - the generation of additional assets or income for the Company at a level of risk that is, consistent with the risk profile and investment restrictions applying for the Company;

- the risks associated with them have been adequately hedged by means of the Company's risk management process.

Techniques and instruments which meet the above criteria and which relate to money market instruments will be regarded as techniques and instruments that relate to money market instruments in the context of efficient portfolio management. The techniques and instruments used will not lead to a change in the investment objective of the Company, nor will they give rise to material additional risks compared with the original risk policy of the Company.

The direct and indirect operational costs arising from the techniques used for efficient portfolio management may be deducted from the income of the Company. Those costs will not comprise hidden income.

The following information will be provided in the annual report of the Company:

- the position attained through the use of techniques for efficient portfolio management;
- the identity of the counterparty/counterparties of those techniques for efficient portfolio management;
- the type and amount of the collateral received by the Company to mitigate the exposure to counterparty risk; and
- the income generated by the techniques for efficient portfolio management for the entire reporting period, as well as the direct and indirect operational costs and fees charged.

All income generated by techniques for efficient portfolio management will return to the Company after deduction of direct and indirect operational costs.

Collateral for OTC derivatives transactions and techniques for efficient portfolio

All assets received in this context will be considered as collateral and will comply with the below criteria.

All collateral instruments that are used to mitigate the exposure to counterparty risk will at all times meet the following criteria:

- Liquidity - all collateral instruments received other than in cash will be highly liquid and able to be traded on a regulated market or multilateral trading facility with transparent pricing, enabling them to be sold quickly at a price that approximates their valuation prior to the sale. The collateral instruments received will also comply with the Articles 140 and 141 BGfo Wft.
- Valuation - collateral instruments received will be valued at least once per day and assets which exhibit wide price fluctuations will not be accepted as collateral unless appropriate conservative haircuts are applied.
- Risks associated with the management of collateral instruments, such as operational and legal risks, will be identified, managed and mitigated by the risk management process.
- Where there is transfer of ownership, the collateral instruments received will be held in custody by the Depositary. For other types of collateral agreements, the collateral may be held in custody by an external custodian that is subject to prudential supervision and that has no ties with the party providing the collateral.
- Collateral instruments received may be enforced at any time without requiring the prior approval of the counterparty.

Reinvested collateral in the form of cash instruments will be spread in accordance with the diversity requirements applying for non-cash collateral instruments. If collateral instruments are received for at least 30% of the assets of the Company, the Management Company will formulate a suitable stress test policy for the performance of regular stress tests under normal and exceptional liquidity conditions in order to assess the liquidity risk attaching to the collateral instruments in question. The Management Company will formulate a clear haircut policy that is geared to each category of assets received as collateral.

The collateral instruments received by the Company must have been issued by an entity that is independent of the counterparty and which is not expected to show a high correlation with the results of the counterparty. Non-cash collateral instruments may not be sold, reinvested or pledged. Collateral instruments received in the form of cash may only:

- be placed on deposit with a credit institution provided that the deposit is repayable or can be withdrawn on demand and is maturing in no more than 12 months and provided that the credit institution has its registered office in a Member State of the European Union or falls under the prudential supervision of a supervisory body that can be regarded as equivalent to the supervisory regime in the country where the Company has its registered office;
- be invested in government bonds of high quality;
- be invested in short-term money market funds as defined in the Guidelines on a Common Definition of European money market funds.

All collateral instruments must be sufficiently diversified in terms of country, market and issuing institution. It is assumed that the criterion of sufficient diversification in respect of the issuing institutions has been complied with if the Company receives a portfolio of collateral instruments from a counterparty in transactions for efficient portfolio management and OTC derivatives with a maximum exposure to one specific issuing institution of 20% of its net asset value. If the Company is exposed to several counterparties, the different portfolios of collateral instruments must be added together in order to calculate the exposure limit of 20% to a single issuing institution.

Contrary to this point, the Company may be fully collateralized in the form of different securities and money market instruments issued or guaranteed by a Member State of the European Union, one or more of its public bodies, a third party that is a member of the OECD, Brazil, PRC, India, Russia, Singapore and South Africa, or international institutions of a public nature of which one or more Member States of the European Union forms part. In such case, the Company must receive securities from at least six different issues, but securities from one single issue may in that case not amount to more than 30% of the net asset value of the Company. The Company will effect transactions with counterparties that are creditworthy in the opinion of the Management Company. These counterparties may be Affiliated Parties. Important criteria in the selection of counterparties are: a healthy financial situation, the ability to offer products and services that meet the needs of the Management Company, the ability to react quickly to operational and legal developments, the ability to offer competitive prices and the quality of the execution. The selected counterparties have no authority whatsoever concerning the composition or management of the Company's investment portfolio or concerning the underlying assets of the financial derivatives, and their approval is not required in respect of transactions in the Company's investment portfolio.

The Company's annual report will contain more detailed information on:

- the identity of the issuing institution if the collateral instruments received amount to more than 20% of the Fund Assets;
- whether the Company is fully collateralized.

The exposure to the counterparty risk of a transaction involving OTC derivative instruments may, bearing in mind the collateral received, not amount to more than 10% of the net assets of the Company in the event that the counterparty is a credit institution having its registered office in a Member State of the European Union or falling under the prudential supervision of a supervisory body that can be regarded as equivalent to the supervisory regime in the country where the Company has its registered office.

In all other cases, bearing in mind the collateral received, the exposure to the counterparty risk of a transaction involving OTC derivative instruments may not amount to more than 5% of the net assets of the Company.

Leverage

Leverage is a method whereby the Management Company increases the position of the Company, for example by borrowing money or securities through derivatives transactions, thereby creating leverage, or in some other way.

The investments are funded almost entirely from shareholders' equity. The Company may take out loans to a value of up to 10% of its assets. Where necessary, the Company may commit a portion of the Fund assets as security for the payment of the amount due in respect of these loans.

Securities Lending

No securities are lent from the portfolio of the Company.

Commission sharing agreements

Commission sharing agreements with brokers are used. Transaction costs, charged by brokers consist of two components: a fee for the actual execution of an order and a fee for the research supplied by the relevant broker for the purpose of the Company. In a commission sharing agreement, it is agreed with the broker that the fee with respect to the purchase of research is separated from the fee with respect to the actual execution of the transaction. The compensation for research is then booked separately on the relevant broker's account as a credit. OBAM may decide to transfer (a part of) this compensation to another broker or research provider for the provision of research. By separating the execution from the purchase of research, the best brokers in both fields can be identified.

Net asset value

Determination of net asset value

The net asset value per Classic Class Share is determined in euros each Valuation Day and published on the Website. This will not take place on days on which the repurchase and issue of Shares is suspended (see chapter 'Issue and repurchase of Shares and pricing').

The value of a Classic Class Share is determined by dividing the value of the Class by the number of Shares of the Class in issue (not held by the Company). The net asset value is calculated after processing of costs and fees. The value of Classic Class is determined with due observance of the generally accepted valuation principles described below. The value of the Shares in Classic Class is ultimately based on the value of the investments (see chapter 'Valuation principles').

Compensation for incorrectly calculated net asset value

Shareholders who have suffered loss as a result of communication by the Company or the Management Company of an incorrect net asset value of a Share, as a result of a calculation error or any other cause, will only have an entitlement to compensation vis-à-vis the Company or the Management Company, in the form of compensation to the Classic Class, if:

- the difference between the reported net asset value and the actual net asset value amounts to more than 100 basis points;
- the compensation for the Shareholder in question or the Class amounts to at least EUR 30;
- it is not or no longer possible to reverse the relevant transactions; and
- the calculation error is reported within six months of the relevant Valuation Day.

Issue and repurchase of Shares and pricing

Issue, repurchase and Transaction Price

The Company operates as an open-end fund. The Company is prepared to buy its own Shares or issue new Shares at the prevailing Transaction Price. The Transaction Price of Classic Class will be determined in euros on each Valuation day and published on the Website.

In the event of a net increase in the Fund Assets due to the repurchase and/or issue of Shares on a Valuation Day, the net asset value will be increased by a premium; in the event of a net decrease in the Fund Assets due to the repurchase and/or issue of Shares, the net asset value will be reduced by a discount. The price set in this manner is the Transaction Price.

The purpose of the discount and premium is to protect the incumbent Shareholders and is added to the Fund Assets. The premium and discount is used by OBAM to cover the costs of the entry and withdrawal of Shareholders. This concerns the purchase and sale costs of the underlying investments and any market impact and taxes. The Management Board has capped the premium and discount at a maximum percentage. This maximum percentage is mentioned in the 'Expenses and fees' chapter. The Management Company will always publish the actual percentage on the Website.

Purchase and sale

In principle, Classic Class Shares may be purchased and sold on any Valuation Day on the stock exchange of Euronext Amsterdam through the agency of a bank or other financial firm.

As at the date of this Prospectus, the Shares of the Company are offered for sale exclusively in the Netherlands. If the Management Company decides to offer the Shares for sale in other countries, this will be announced in (an addendum to) the Prospectus.

Settlement of orders

Orders will be executed once each Valuation day at the Transaction price determined by the Management Company. Orders placed with the Company before the Cut-off Time (16.00 hrs) will be executed on the next Valuation Day ('T') at approximately 10.00 hrs at the Transaction price announced by the Management Company for that day. Orders placed after the Cut-off Time will be executed on the following Valuation Day.

Shares will only be issued if the Transaction Price has been paid into the Fund Assets within the prescribed period.

Suspension of issue and repurchase of Shares

The repurchase or issue of Shares may be wholly or partially suspended, in view of the interests of the Shareholders, in the following special circumstances:

- (i) if one or more stock exchanges or markets on which securities are listed or traded which form part of the assets of the Company or the assets of an UCITS or investment institution in which the Company invests directly or indirectly, are closed on days other than the usual closing days, or transactions on those stock exchanges have been suspended or subjected to unusual restrictions and the Management Company is of the opinion that it is not possible to provide an accurate estimate of the price of the (listed) securities;
- (ii) circumstances in which the means of communication or calculation facilities that are normally used to determine the assets of the Company or the assets of an UCITS or investment institution in which the Company invests directly or indirectly, no longer function or for some other reason the value of an investment that forms part of the assets of the Company or the assets of an UCITS or investment institution in which the Company invests directly or indirectly, cannot be determined with the speed or accuracy required by the Management Company;
- (iii) circumstances in which the technical resources needed for the Company to repurchase or issue Shares are unavailable due to a technical problem;
- (iv) factors relating among other things to the political, economic, military or monetary situation over which the Management Company has no influence and which prevent the Management Company from determining with sufficient accuracy the value of the assets of the Company and the assets of an UCITS or investment institution in which the Company invests directly or indirectly.
- (v) circumstances in which the Company is unable in practice to meet the number of requests to repurchase or issue Shares immediately;
- (vi) circumstances in which a maximum limit may temporarily be set for the issue and/or repurchase of Shares, provided the limit set is in relation to the number of Shares in issue and is related to the characteristics of the Company, the Class or the investment policy;
- (vii) circumstances in which the tax status of the Company is jeopardised. This is the case, for example, where the issue or repurchase of Shares would mean that the Company would no longer meet the criteria for a fiscal investment institution (see chapter 'Taxation', under 'Corporate Income Tax'); or
- (viii) if the AFM issues a direction obliging the Management Company to suspend the issue or repurchase of Shares in the general interest or in the interests of the Shareholders.

In the event of suspension, the Management Company will inform the AFM – with the exception of the situation mentioned under (viii) – and the Supervisory Board without delay and the measure will be reported and explained on the Website.

Since the Company invest directly or indirectly primarily in negotiable and/or listed securities, there are sufficient guarantees that, subject to statutory provisions and barring special circumstances, it will be possible to comply with the obligation to repurchase and redeem Shares.

Refusal of orders

OBAM reserves the right to refuse a purchase or sale order if a settlement instruction deviating from the standard is being requested. The standard settlement instruction at this moment is:

- settlement through LCH.Clearnet: administrative and financial settlement and guaranteeing of securities transactions. The guarantee issued by LCH.Clearnet minimises the counterparty risk;
- settlement term of two trading days after the Valuation Day;
- settlement through Euroclear Nederland: the final settlement of securities transactions.

Valuation principles

Valuation of the investments

The valuation of investments is carried out on the basis of the following criteria:

- The regularly traded listed securities are valued at the closing prices which are fixed after the Cut-off Time. For OBAM's investments in Asian markets, the most recently known market prices will be taken into account consistently for the time of valuation;
- On days when one or more stock exchanges or markets on which a substantial part of the underlying investments is traded is or are closed for the usual reasons, the listed investments may be valued on the basis of an appraisal by the Management Board which it deems advisable for such investments.
- Listed securities that are not traded or are traded irregularly are valued at the discretion of the Management Board at an (estimated) market value taking into account all criteria which it deems advisable for such investments.

Valuation of derivatives

Derivatives are derived financial instruments such as forward contracts, futures and options. The value of derivatives depends on the value of the underlying variables and these financial instruments need relatively little or no net initial investment and are settled at a certain moment in the future.

Forward contracts, futures and options which have not yet been settled are stated at fair market value. Realised and unrealised results on these contracts are accounted for in the results on investments in the profit and loss account.

Valuation of other assets and liabilities

Other assets and liabilities are stated at nominal value. Where necessary, provisions are formed for irrecoverability.

The following basic principles are applied by the Company for the conversion of currency:

- Assets and liabilities in foreign currencies are converted into euros at the rate prevailing on the date of valuation;
- Currency exchange differences are recognised in the results;
- Income and expenditure in foreign currencies are converted into euros at the exchange rate prevailing on the transaction date.

Principles of determination of result

The results are determined by the proceeds from the dividend received during the reporting period, the interest over the reporting period and other income after deduction of the costs attributable to the reporting period.

The buying and selling costs of investments are capitalised and included under movements in value. Selling costs of investments are deducted from the realised price result.

The realised price results on investments during the reporting period are determined by subtracting the purchase value from the sale proceeds. The unrealised price results on investments during the reporting period are determined on the basis of the sale proceeds or balance sheet value at the end of the reporting period minus the sale proceeds or balance sheet value at the beginning of the reporting period, where applicable increased by the purchase price of the purchases made during the reporting period. In the case of a sale, the cumulative value of unrealised price results which are already recognised as results, will be counter-booked. These price results, as well as gains and losses on foreign exchange, are recognised as income.

Interest charges in respect of loans or bank debts taken out in the context of the investment policy are disclosed under income from investments.

The premiums and discounts for the issue or the redemption of shares are accounted for under other income.

Fees and expenses

Management fee

The Management Company charges the Classic Class a management fee of 0.5%.

The management fee is calculated on a daily basis on the basis of the assets of the Class and charged to the result of the Class exclusive of VAT.

Depositary fees

OBAM is required to pay the Depositary a:

- fee for the performance of its depositary tasks – excluding the safekeeping of securities in the OBAM investment portfolio – equal to a maximum of 0.006%. The fee is calculated on a daily basis on the basis of the assets of the Class; and
- a safekeeping fee whose size depends on the countries in which OBAM invests. The safekeeping of the securities in the OBAM investment portfolio as well as the placement of liquid assets in deposits by OBAM take place at normal market rates.

Both of the above fees are charged – plus VAT wherever applicable – on a monthly basis to the result of the Class.

Administration fee

OBAM pays BNP Paribas Securities Services Amsterdam a monthly administration fee amounting to 0.01247%, with a minimum of EUR 150,000 per year. The administration fee is calculated on a daily basis on the basis of the assets of the Class. No VAT is charged on the administration fee. The fee is charged to the results of the Class.

Paying Agent, Listing Agent and Fund Agent fees

OBAM pays ING Bank N.V. a monthly fee for its services as Paying Agent, Listing Agent and Fund Agent amounting EUR 20,000 per year, increased by market practice transaction fees. This fee is calculated on a daily basis on the basis of the assets of the Class. No VAT is charged on this fee. The fee is charged to the results of the Class.

Supervisory Board remuneration

The Supervisory Board of OBAM is entitled to remuneration at the Company's expense for its activities. This remuneration is a maximum of EUR 23,000 per annum for the chairman of the Board. For the other members of the Supervisory Board, the annual remuneration is a maximum EUR 20,000 per person. VAT will be added to all aforementioned amounts if applicable. These costs are charged directly to the results of OBAM.

Other expenses

OBAM

Other general expenses borne by the Company include expenses related to the organisation of annual General Meetings, reporting, marketing, listing on the stock exchange, external consultants, auditors as well as the cost of supervision by the AFM pursuant to the Wft.

In addition, other costs directly related to the management of investments, such as settlement costs as well as corporate actions costs and transaction costs relating to OBAM's investments will be borne by the Company.

OBAM does not employ any staff.

Investor

Any buying and selling expenses and/or custody fees charged to the investor by a bank or other financial firm for the purchase and/or sale of a Classic Class Share will depend on the bank or financial firm where the transaction and/or custody takes place.

Premiums and discounts

For reasons of transparency and simplicity, the Management Board of OBAM has determined a maximum percentage of 0.30% of the net asset value for the premium or discount. This premium or discount is used by OBAM to cover the costs of the entry and withdrawal of Shareholders, in the form of the purchase and sales costs of the underlying investments and any market impact and taxes. The actual level is determined on the basis of actual sale and purchase costs with respect to the securities in which OBAM invests. The Management Board may adjust this percentage if the long-term average changes due to market circumstances. The actual applicable premium/discount percentage will always be available on the Website. No VAT is charged on the premium or discount.

Transaction costs

Transaction costs are the direct costs incurred by the Company for the purchase or sale of the underlying investments of the Company. These costs are explained in the annual report. The turnover rate of the portfolio is also stated in the annual report, to give an indication of the transaction costs. The transaction costs are in line with the market and are charged to the assets of the Company.

Total costs

The 'ongoing charges' are stated in the KIID. This costs ratio provides an insight into the (estimated) total costs that will be deducted from the assets of the Classic Class during the course of a year. The costs of investment transactions, interest charges and any costs associated with derivatives (e.g. margin calls) are left out of consideration. The KIID containing details of the on-going charges contained therein are updated at least once a year.

Taxation

The most relevant fiscal aspects of investing in the Company are described in broad outline below, based on present Dutch tax legislation and case law, with the exception of provisions introduced with retroactive force after the date of this Prospectus.

The Company

Corporate Income Tax

The Company has opted for the status of FII. This means that, provided a number of conditions are met, no Corporate Income Tax is levied on the Company. One of these conditions is that the profit available for distribution is distributed to Shareholders within eight months of the end of the financial year. Price gains on securities are incorporated in the assets via the reinvestment reserve and therefore do not need to be distributed. A portion of the costs associated with administering the investments must be deducted from the reinvestment reserve.

Dividend tax and foreign withholding tax

Dividends received

Dutch dividend tax is in principle deducted from dividends received which are paid by entities established in the Netherlands. Foreign withholding tax is generally deducted from dividends paid by entities established in other countries. Where the amount of withholding tax deducted exceeds the amount to which the country in question is entitled pursuant to double taxation treaties, this withholding tax can in principle be reclaimed from the tax authorities in the country concerned.

Dividends to be distributed

The Company is in principle required to deduct dividend tax at the rate of 15% from dividends to be distributed. Distribution of dividend in the form of Shares charged to the fiscally recognised share premium reserve is not subject to dividend tax. A distribution from the reinvestment reserve can in principle be made free of dividend tax.

The dividend tax payable by the Company as deducted from dividends it has distributed may under certain conditions be reduced by the amount of Dutch dividend tax and a proportion of the foreign withholding tax (remaining after application of double taxation treaties) (up to a maximum of 15% of the foreign dividend concerned) that has been deducted from dividends paid to the Company, provided the Company is the ultimate beneficiary of these dividends. The foreign withholding tax (remaining after application of double taxation treaties) cannot be deducted from the dividend tax payable by the Company pro rata the number of Shares held in the Company by Shareholders that are not themselves liable to pay tax (Dutch and foreign exempt pension funds, exempt foundations, associations, etc.) or that have the right (based on a taxation treaty) to reduction or reclaim of withheld Dutch dividend tax.

Shareholders

General

This section is not intended to provide a summary of all fiscal consequences for every Shareholder in relation to the acquisition, holding and disposal of Shares in the Company. Those consequences will depend on the personal circumstances of the Shareholder and on the legislation and jurisprudence in the country where the Shareholder resides or is established.

Shareholders should seek the advice of their own tax advisor with regard to all fiscal aspects in relation to the acquisition, holding and disposal of Shares in the Company based on their particular situation.

Private individuals residing in the Netherlands

It is assumed in this summary of Dutch taxation aspects for private Shareholders residing in the Netherlands that the Shares in the Company are not (required to be) classed as part of the assets of an enterprise. It is also assumed that the Shares do not qualify as a substantial interest, that the Shareholder does not receive any income from other activities in respect of the Shares and that the Shares are not held as part of a life-course savings scheme, an annuity investment scheme or an investment-backed mortgage repayment scheme. Finally, the rules set out below may apply to a private individual who resides in the Netherlands if the Shares have been placed in a protected personal assets construction that is attributed to that private individual.

Income tax

Taxable income from investments ('Box 3' income) is set at a notional yield on the value of the assets invested at the start of the calendar year (reference date). This notional yield is taxed at a rate of 30%. The value of the assets invested is calculated as the net assets invested (assets less liabilities, where these exceed a certain threshold and are not included in 'Box 1' or 'Box 2' on the Dutch income tax return) less a tax-free allowance. The general tax-free allowance for the tax year 2020 is EUR 30,846 for individual taxpayers (EUR 61,692 for partners jointly), plus any applicable surcharges. As of tax year 2020 the notional yield applicable on the amount above the tax-free allowance is 1.789% on the first EUR 72,797, 4.185% on the amount between EUR 72,797 and EUR 1,005,572 and 5.28% on the amount exceeding EUR 1,005,572. The notional yield is calculated on the value of the assets invested at the start of the calendar year, regardless of the return actually realised.

Dividend tax

The dividend tax withheld by the Company can in principle be set off entirely against the income tax liability, or reclaimed from the tax authorities provided the recipient of the dividend is the ultimate beneficiary.

Taxable entities established in the Netherlands

It is assumed in this summary of Dutch taxation aspects for entities established in the Netherlands that those entities are subject to Corporate Income Tax, do not hold the status of FII and do not have a shareholding of 25% or more in the Company.

Corporate Income Tax

Except in the case of dividend distributed from the profit reserves that were present when the Shares were purchased ('purchased dividend'), dividends received are taxable. If the Shares in the Company are sold, the difference between the proceeds and the book value is taxable. The 'substantial holdings exemption' cannot be applied to Shares of the Company.

Dividend tax

The Dutch dividend tax withheld by the Company can in principle be set off against the Corporate Income Tax payable or reclaimed where applicable, provided the recipient of the dividend is the ultimate beneficiary.

Non-taxable entities established in the Netherlands

Dividend tax

Certain exempt institutional investors (e.g. pension funds, associations and foundations established in the Netherlands and exempt from Dutch corporate income tax) are able in principle to reclaim all the dividend tax deducted from dividend payments by the Company from the Dutch tax authorities, provided the recipient of distributed dividends is the ultimate beneficiary of those dividends.

Entities with the status of exempt UCITS or Investment Institution cannot reclaim the dividend tax deducted from dividend payments by the Company from the Dutch tax authorities.

FATCA

The purpose of the Act is to gather information, with the cooperation of financial institutions, on US taxpayers with financial assets held outside the United States, and to report this information to the US tax authorities (Internal Revenue Service – IRS) with a view to preventing tax evasion. Failure to cooperate with FATCA carries the risk that US withholding tax will be applied at the rate of 30% to sales proceeds or income deriving from a US source. Any US tax withheld may not be refunded by the IRS.

The Netherlands has signed an Intergovernmental Agreement ('IGA') with the United States, which provides for the automatic sharing of information relating to US taxpayers. Pursuant to this Agreement, Dutch legislation has been amended, following which the Company is required to pass details relating to US taxpayers to the Dutch tax authorities. The Dutch tax authorities will subsequently pass these details to the US tax authorities.

AEOI

The Multilateral agreement to automatically exchange financial information worldwide (Automatic Exchange of Information; 'AEOI') has been enacted into Dutch law. To comply with the requirements of the Dutch law, the Company may need to collect and disclose information about its investors to the Dutch tax authorities. The Dutch tax authorities will subsequently transmit the received information to the relevant jurisdictions. The transmitted information may include (but is not limited to) the identity of investors and their direct or indirect beneficiaries, beneficial owners and controlling persons. An investor will therefore be required to comply with any reasonable request from the Company for such information, to allow the Company to comply with its reporting requirements to the Dutch tax authorities.

Amendments to the Terms and Conditions

The Articles of Association may be amended by decision of the General Meeting on the proposal of the meeting of priority shareholders. A (proposal for) amendment of the Terms and Conditions applicable between the Company and the Shareholders will be published in a Dutch national daily newspaper as well as on the Website. Any amendment or proposed amendment of the Terms and Conditions will also be explained on the Website.

Amendments of the Terms and Conditions applying between the Company and the Shareholders which result in the loss of Shareholders' rights or guarantees or the imposition of charges on Shareholders, or which result in amendment of the investment policy, will not be invoked in respect of those parties who are Shareholders at the time of the notification as referred to below until one month has elapsed after notification of the amendment in the manner referred to above. During this period Shareholders may have their Classic Class Shares repurchased by the Company on the usual terms, without prejudice to the relevant provisions in the Prospectus, the Articles of Association of the Company and the other Terms and Conditions applying between the Company and the Shareholders.

The amount remaining after the allocation referred to in the previous sentence shall, without prejudice to the provisions of article 32, paragraph 1, be placed at the disposal of the General Meeting, on the understanding that the distribution of dividend may only take place in accordance with the proposals made by the Board of Directors for each Class.

If, and in so far as the Company has to form or increase statutory reserves in any given year, this shall be done in direct proportion for the account of the reserve accounts of the Classes in which the shares are placed. If and in so far as a statutory reserve is released, the amounts released shall be credited to the reserve accounts of the Classes for the account of which the statutory reserve was formed or increased. All payments will be made proportionally to the number of shares held in a given Class.

Distributions charged to a share premium account and/or a reserve account and a full discontinuation of a share premium account and/or a reserve account can, with due observance of the provisions of paragraph 1, at all times take place by virtue of a resolution of the General Meeting, but exclusively on the proposal of both the Board of Directors – which proposal is subject to the approval of the Supervisory Board - and the meeting of shareholders in the Class in question. Distribution to the account of a reserve account may only take place up to the amount of the positive balance of the reserve account.

32.3. On the proposal of the Board of Directors – which proposal is subject to the approval of the Supervisory Board - the General Meeting may decide that distributions may be made fully or partially in the form of a number of shares to be determined by the Board of Directors. That which accrues to a shareholder from the distribution referred to in the foregoing sentence shall be made available to him in cash or in shares, or partly in cash and partly in shares, if so determined by the Board of Directors, at the shareholder's option.

32.4. In so far as the Board of Directors has not (yet) resolved to subdivision of ordinary shares into Classes, the provisions of the paragraphs 1 up to and including 4 of this article shall be amended in such way that the General Meeting, on the proposal of the Board of Directors - which proposal is subject to the approval of the Supervisory Board – is authorised to resolve that a distribution of dividend or any other distribution with respect to ordinary shares may not be, in whole or in part, made in cash, but by means of ordinary shares in the capital of the Company.

Without such deposit, a decision on the proposal may only be taken unanimously at a meeting at which the whole of the issued capital is represented.
